Plump and Rosy Babies

"Had it not been for Lactated Food our little baby must have died. She has been using it for three months, and is a plump, healthy, rosy-cheeked baby."—Mrs. M. L. Lippin, Kansas, Ind.

Sleep All Night, Happy All Day

"We tried other foods, but finding none to agree with our little girl we used your Lactated Food. She began at once to sleep, and improved in health. Today she is as bright, lively, and hearty as a child could be, sleeping twelve hours at a stretch, and walking up laughing every morning."—Mrs. S. J. Jones, Ind.

Cutting Teeth Easily

"Lactated Food is an excellent food for cutting children. My baby is using it, and is cutting her teeth without any trouble."—Mrs. M. L. Lippin, Kansas, Ind.

Saved from Cholera Infantum

"Our baby had Cholera Infantum, and until we tried Lactated Food, we could find nothing to help her. It retained her Food without any trouble, and soon recovered."—Mrs. S. J. Jones, Ind.

FLOCKING TO SEE THE DECEASED.—A city undertaker vouches for the truth of the following: "I had a funeral at one of the high toned colored churches on the south side not long ago. The audience number of the church was crowded. The preacher, who is a good deal of a common-sense man, by the way, got up and read a chapter, and then closed the book without selecting his text. This is quite common, however, with him. I will repeat to you just what he said: 'Bruders and sisters, de church am crowded to-day as I habent seed it fo' many day. In fact, as de theaters sometimes put it, dar am standin' room only. Now, why am dis? I kin tell yo all, and I see gwine fo' to speak my mind to de pint. Yee all come heah fo' to see de deceased in de coffin dar. I remember, bruders and sisters, when Brudder Johnson, de deceased, was a libbin', and when he ust to come to de church which I am proud to say fo' his memry, he did, yo all was never berry much concerned about flockin' in heah to see him den. When he was libbin' de deceased wa'n't much run after. Some of yo-all wouldn't speak to him.
But now dat de deceased am dead yo-all kin come in heah and block up de deiles and de spar room, kase yo all tink dat de coffin will be open and yo kin march aroun' and take a look at de deceased. I see gwine to disappoint yo all. De coffin wa'n't be open, not in dis yeh church. Mister Undertaker, proceed wid de necessary preprashuns for removin' ob de body ob de deceased while de congregation will remain stan'in' and jine de choir in de chant, Blessed are de dead dat die in de Lawd. De Deekins will improve de opportunity by passin' de basket-et. I want yo cullud people what's in de habit ob flockin' to de funerals ob deceased members and won't come to church dat yo got to pay fo' yo fan."—Chicago Times.

TOWED TO SEA BY A SHARK.—Samuel Hemmingsway and Richard Fitzgerald, well known residents of Jersey City, had a thrilling experience a few days ago. They were fishing in the Great Kills near Gifford's Station, S. I. The weakfish were not bitting, as sharks were about. They happened to have a large hook in the boat, and by a remarkable accident a chain. Luckily they had caught one weakfish, and with this they bated the hook. A moment after they threw the chain in they hooked a shark.
They attempted to land it, but it was too heavy and took them in tow. They dropped the line to attend to the boat, as there was danger of an upset among the oyster stakes.

The shark started to sea. They sailed along rapidly for several miles. They had almost reached Sandy Hook. The prospect was black. Would they be towed out to the ocean and lost? Of course they could have cut the painter and released the shark, but they didn't. Luckily the oyster sloop Mary, of Princess Bay, hove in sight. They gave signals of distress and the sloop bore down upon them. They were saved. The line was secured to the stern of the sloop and the fishermen and shark were turned back to the Great Kills. The shark was landed and was drawn to the shore by a team of horses. It was a monster, measuring 13 feet 4 inches. In its stomach was the usual find—a plug hat and a pair of boots.
These gentlemen are enthusiastic fishermen, and their friends exchange winks as they recount the thrilling story of their narrow escape.—N. Y. Herald.

THE STRIKES IN FRANCE.—The strikers at Amiens yesterday evening tried to attack the residence of M. Coquel, whose factory was sacked the previous night. The streets were cleared by troops. Seven arrests were made at Amiens of persons concerned in the riot there Monday. Four of the persons arrested are foreigners. The mayor has issued an order forbidding people to assemble under the penalty prescribed by the riot act of 1835. The strikers continue the work of agitation, and another riot is feared.
Troops guard the town hall and factories, and are patrolling the streets. After the strikers' meeting yesterday the striking waiters smashed the windows of a cafe, and the striking barbers' assistants attempted to storm a number of registry offices. Gen-darmes with drawn swords restored order. At the strikers' meeting, resolutions were adopted, demanding that the government withdraw the troops from the workshops, and declaring the readiness of the strikers to accept the arbitration of a municipal commission to settle the question of wages. Conflicts with the police were renewed yesterday evening. Several arrests were made.
The Cabinet at a meeting discussed repressive measures.
